

To help you complete this worksheet, use the Our Planet's Pieces book.

Asia is Earth's _____ continent. Asia goes all the way from _____ and Europe in the west to the Pacific Ocean in the east. The northernmost part of the continent is in the frozen _____. In the south, Asia ends near the _____, where it is very hot. Asia has more _____ and more people than any other continent.

The Arabian Peninsula is a large desert area. A _____ is a piece of land that has water almost all the way around it.

Many geographers think the _____ Mountains in Russia are a natural border between Europe and Asia.

It's a fact!
About 5,500 years ago, people living in a part of Asia called Mesopotamia (MEHS uh puh TAY mee uh) built the world's first cities.

Map key
★ city
● mountain or other feature

Some of the largest, busiest, and most modern _____ in the world are in Asia.

Mount Everest is the highest _____ in the world. It stands 8,850 metres tall.

Thousands of _____ are part of Asia.

The Great _____ of China was built across thousands of kilometres in north-central China.