

To help you complete this worksheet, use the Famous Buildings book.

Palace of Heavenly Purity

The Palace of Heavenly Purity was once the home of many ancient Chinese _____. It was originally built in the _____. Today, it stands in the Forbidden City, a historic walled area in _____, China's capital. The Palace of Heavenly Purity is the _____ building in the Forbidden City.

The palace's roof has two overhanging _____.

The _____ is made from yellow _____. Yellow is a symbol for the earth and emperor.

Ten red _____ stand at the front of the palace. Chinese people think of red as the colour of luck and happiness.

A stone _____ leads to the front of the palace.

